60+ QUIZ CLUB

Run a Quiz Hour — United Kingdom

What you need

- A TV or projector with internet — any smart TV, streaming stick, or laptop that plays YouTube.
- Scorecards & pencils — optional. One card per player, or one per table. Or just shout your answers — that works just as well.
- Tables of up to 6 — team play makes the room lively.
- About 30–45 minutes: one episode, played with pauses.

Troubleshooting

- Hard to hear? Set the volume first, and turn subtitles ON (the "CC" button) — every question is read aloud and shown in large type.
- Answer comes too fast? Freeze on the 7-second timer with the pause button as long as the table needs.
- Video stutters? Pause 30 seconds to let it load, or lower quality (gear icon → Quality → 720p).
- Lost your place? Chapters are listed under the video — tap one to jump to a round.

The hour, step by step

1. Open the series. Go to youtube.com/@60PlusQuizClub, open the Britain series and pick an episode from the menu below.
2. Hand out scorecards (or don't — fingers and loud voices keep score fine).
3. Pause after each question. The video gives 7 seconds to think. Pause there, let everyone shout, debate, and settle — then press play for the reveal.
4. Mark them pub-quiz style. Swap sheets with another table or player to mark them, then swap back — just like a proper pub quiz.
5. Read the rank table at the end — from Warming Up to Quiz Champion — and announce it out loud.
6. Same time next week. New Britain episodes land Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday, so Quiz Hour holds a fixed slot in your weekly programme.

UK 01 — Do You Remember These 50 Things About Britain?	Shillings and pence, Coronation Street, the Mini, Butlin's and more	26 min

Scorecards: the free large-print scorecard (A4, one page per player) is the file scorecard-a4.pdf, one folder up from this run-sheet — or download it from the UK Activity Directors page. Print and copy as many as your group needs. Good first pick: UK 01 — the all-round opener.

Group use is warmly welcome — no permission needed, no fee, ever. You have our explicit permission to screen any 60+ Quiz Club episode at care homes, residential homes, day centres, community and village halls, lunch clubs, church groups, and family gatherings — and to print as many scorecards, posters, and run-sheets as you need.
